To Whom This May Concern,

These days, having a 4.2 GPA is not enough to get you into the college of your choice and obtain the necessary financial aid. When our child started her senior year of high school we were clueless about how we were going to pay for her college education. Whatever we had researched and tried over the internet led us nowhere. We were lost and it did not look good.

Attending the National College Planners workshop was the best thing that could have happened to us.

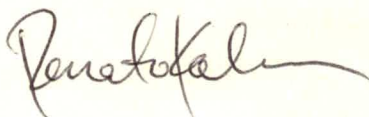

Jason and his staff were most helpful in guiding our daughter Paula through the complicated labyrinth of entities, paperwork, deadlines and helping her fill out the necessary forms and prepare resumes and essays. The key factor was that, Paula who always felt she knew it all and was not the most receptive, was more open to follow Jason and his staff's instructions. Along with all that, our delicate financial situation was critical in the whole process. Jason sat down with us and explained how manage the finances and proceed.

We will never be able to thank NCP, Jason and his very capable team enough for all their help, expertise and patience with helping us navigate the complicated maze of entities and paperwork necessary to obtain financial aid. They were able to obtain $42,420 in grant money for Paula to go to UC Berkeley, for a total of $169,680 over four years.

We are very happy that we continue to work with National College Planners and rely on them year after year.

We are eternally grateful.

Sincerely,
