To Whom It May Concern:

We would like to thank you for the help you gave our family and the outcome we received by retaining your services. Our daughter will be graduating George Washington University in DC with little to no debt thanks to the $167,200 she received in grants, merit scholarships, awards and aid over a four-year period.

None of it would have been possible without your guidance and patience. We were not able to find another college prep service that existed that offered the types of services that National College Planners offers.

To be specific;

1. Changing our mindset that our daughter could only look at UC schools or a state school for lack of finances. The words "private" or "out of state" just never entered our minds as an option. You, Jason, made us realize that this was not only an option but also a possible preference.
2. Interest guidance in helping our daughter look at many schools to determine what was important to her and to find her comfort level. Working with her to develop her potential career options according to her skills and interests. And finally, looking even further down the road as to what other education might be necessary and where the jobs are, now and in the future, plus the different salaries associated with those career choices.
3. Preparation of applications to schools and keeping us on top of deadlines through your dedicated staff with their emails and phone calls.
4. Preparation of the FAFSA and other requested financial documentation which can be a tedious task since many schools have different requirements.

Jason, you are a special person and we are so thankful you choose to help others through this profession of helping our young people succeed in life. With your help, our daughter now has the ability to fulfill her dreams. We recently hired you again to work with our son which obviously is the highest compliment one could receive. We know you have a limit as to how many families you can help during a given year and please know that this family feels blessed that we were able to have you in our corner.

With warmest regards,

The Rubin Family
